

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Kristi has big ambitions!

Learning Outcome

Describe necessity, duty, advice, or strong disapproval in written and spoken situations according to work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can write a letter of intent.
- I can write facts about events or actions.
- I can write about my work responsibilities.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever applied for an internal position? Which one?
- Do you think a person who applies for an internal position has a better chance than an external applicant? Why or why not?

Let's Explore!

Kristi applies for an internal position. Do you think she has what it takes?

* An "internal" position is a job opportunity within the company you currently work for.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Kristi Lenard
234 Wellington Blvd.
Boston, Massachusetts
E-mail Address: kristi@teleworm.com

Feb 3rd, 2012

Recruitment Officer
Pamela Marshall
BFP Publishing
352 Front St.
Boston, Massachusetts 10011

Sub: Application for the position of Junior Editor
Dear Ms. Marshall,

I write this e-mail in response to an internal advertisement for the post of Junior Editor at BFP Publishing. A Harvard English program graduate, with prior experience working in BFP's editing department, I believe that the skills and expertise gained make me an ideal candidate for the post.

On completion of my English degree, I proceeded to complete a number of postgraduate courses in literature, creative writing and publishing. In addition, I commenced an internship at Polygon which honed my skills in a fast-paced environment. Furthermore, the internship enhanced my interpersonal abilities and brought out my flare for efficient and engaging writing and attention to detail.

My time at BFP Publishing has further refined my skills in the publishing field. In fact, I was recently recognized for my valuable contribution to Richard Duncan's new novel and have succeeded in establishing myself as a valuable member of the editing team. I can envision myself working at BFP long-term and feel that a Junior Editor position could be a chance to not only demonstrate my commitment to the company but also show my diverse range of communication skills.

As the position commences next month, I will have finished all my current projects and responsibilities and will have also completed a short course in advanced proofreading skills. I am confident that with my talents, experience and qualifications, I will be able to exceed your expectations and contribute towards greater success of the department. I would therefore like to request an opportunity to discuss the suitability of my candidature. I have enclosed my résumé and references for your perusal and will be eagerly awaiting your response.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my application, and I'll be looking forward to speaking with you after the application deadline.

Yours sincerely,

Kristi Lenard

Let's Practice!

Tell us about your work plans and responsibilities.

Instructions: Use the options from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. Use capital letters where necessary.

Word Bank

be looking forward / honed my / editing department / interpersonal / have also completed / will be eagerly awaiting / I will have finished / refined my

1. In addition, I commenced an internship at Polygon which _____ in a fast-paced environment.
2. Furthermore, the internship enhanced my _____ abilities and brought out my flare for efficient and engaging writing and attention to detail.
3. I have enclosed my resume and references for your perusal and _____ your response.
4. My time at BFP Publishing has further _____ skills in the publishing field.
5. As the position commences next month, _____ all of my current projects and responsibilities
6. I will _____ a short course in advanced proofreading skills by next week.
7. A Harvard English program graduate, with prior experience working in BFP's _____, I believe that the skills and expertise gained make me an ideal candidate for the post.
8. Thanking you for taking the time to consider my application, and I'll _____ to speaking with you after the application deadline.

Let's Practice!

What can you tell us about your previous work history?

Instructions: Circle the correct word to complete the sentence. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. In fact, I was recently recognizing / recently recognized for my valuable contribution to Richard Duncan's new novel.
2. I have succeeded in / succeed in establishing myself as a valuable member of the editing team.
3. I envisioning / can envision myself working at BFP long-term.
4. I feel that a Junior Editor position is being a / could be a chance to not only demonstrate my commitment to the company but also show my diverse range of communication skills.
5. I am confident that with my talents, experience and qualifications, I will be able to / be able exceed your expectations and contribute towards greater success of the department.
6. On completion of my English degree, I succeeding in complete / succeeded in completing a number of postgraduate courses in literature, creative writing and publishing.

Extension Activity

Looking for your dream job? Write a letter to impress your future boss.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Research your ideal job.
- Make a list of the education and skills you need to meet the position requirements.
- Write a 150-180 word letter of intent expressing your interest in obtaining the position.
- Remember to use the correct structure including a greeting, statement about the position you are applying for and a closing.
- Proofread your letter and then read the letter aloud to a friend.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I research my ideal job.

☐ ☐

I write a letter of intent including the skills and education required for a position.

☐ ☐

I write a letter of intent for an advertised position.

☐ ☐

I read my letter of intent to a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- interpersonal (adjective): relating to or involving relations between people
e.g. Furthermore, the internship enhanced my interpersonal abilities and brought out my flare for efficient and engaging writing and attention to detail.
- to envision (verb): to imagine something that you believe might exist or happen in the future
e.g. I can envision myself working at BFP long-term.
- suitability (noun): having the qualities that are right, needed, or appropriate for something e.g. I would therefore like to request an opportunity to discuss the suitability.
- candidature (noun): the state of being a candidate for a position e.g. I would like to discuss the suitability of my candidature.
- perusal (noun): an examination of something in a very careful way or formal way e.g. I have enclosed my resumé and references for your perusal.

Learning Points

How to Write a Letter of Intent

A letter of intent is a letter is common in both business and academic contexts. It allows you to demonstrate personality as well as communication skills. A successful letter of intent will be informative, professional, and persuasive.

Here are some steps to follow if you have to write a letter of intent:

1. Make sure you follow all the instructions laid out for you. Visit the business' website for details.
2. Confirm who you need to address the letter to.
3. Make notes about what you want to include in your letter. It defines your career objectives and goals, professional experience, leadership skills, and unique attributes to set you apart from the rest.
4. Personalize the letter.
5. Be specific about why you are writing the letter, your credentials and why you want to focus on that particular company.
6. Request a response from the company in your conclusion.

Modals and Other Verbs for Ability, Quality and Achievement

You use modals to talk about ability, natural or learned. You can talk about quantity and achievement in other ways.

The modals can and could and be able to express ability, in the present, past and future.

For example:

When I was a child, I could play piano very well.

I can envision myself working at your company for a long time.

I will be able to exceed your expectations and contribute to the success of your company.

Note:

be able to is a very flexible modal - it can be used to talk about the past, present and future.

For example:

Present: I am not able to sing very well.

Past: When I was five, I was able to play a sonata.

Future: After my leg heals, I will be able to run again.

You can use other verbs such as managed to or succeeded in to talk about achievement.

When I was at the company, I managed to reach all sales goals.

He succeeded in making the company what it is today.

